New Smithsonian places African American LGBT Community in full view

"The lives and contributions of LGBT communities are an integral part of the larger story we tell. These stories aren't isolated or segregated from the larger narrative, but are a natural and intrinsic part of the broader story we're sharing regarding the broad contributions of African Americans to American history and culture."

On Saturday, Sept. 24, 2016, President Barack Obama and First Lady Michelle Obama will dedicate the new Smithsonian National Museum of African American History and Culture on the National Mall in Washington, D.C.

The opening exhibition will also include CA LGBT Arts Alliance Director Greg Day's photographs of African American Life on the Gullah/Geechee Coast.
